Regular Monthly Meeting

Driving memories of 'Corvairs in the Winter'

Not long after the January Aircooler arrived in your mail box and you read my comments on how we may need to call off a meeting due to bad weather, it came to be true. I should have added that if you do not use the email system and are in doubt about the meeting being cancelled, feel free to call Clark or me and ask. Don't call Paul or Judy as they will be in Florida and may give you an answer that will not make you feel any better about living in Michigan in the winter. The below 0 temps and roads that were still snow packed and glazed over were a little to much of a travel hazard for a lot of us, even with a 4x4 truck or SUV it was best to just stay close to home that day.

That was then, this is now so, lets try it again. We will talk about the fun times we have when we drive a Corvaire in the winter or we had 20 or 30+ years ago when some of us did that kind of thing. A few people can relate to this and we can tell a few stories and talk about improvements to heater performance and other issues dealing with Corvairs in the cold weather, both past and present.

Also it will be time to think about finding people to run for office this year for next month's elections, so we will spend a little time talking about that as well.

If we have another weather event the day of the meeting watch your email box or call before just in case there is a last minute change.

PETE Cimbala

Weather or Not

The January DACC meeting was cancelled due the severe weather at that time. We did our best to let everyone know and we hope nobody found out the hard way. But, that is life in Michigan for those of that are not snowbirds.

A weather report a couple of weeks ago said the 2013-14 winter season has been the worst, weather wise, in 40 years! Come to think about it, 40 years was before there even was a DACC! That got me to thinking about how many DACC meetings have been missed due to weather over the years. As usual, I don't remember even one.

Speaking of remembering ... my adult children have little or no memory of this kind of weather and my teenage grandchildren have seen cooling trends for most of their lives! I wonder how easy it would be to sell them on global cooling?

2014 HOSPITALITY

I am looking for individuals and / or couples that would like to learn the 'ins & outs' of the annual Homecoming Hospitality room.

As most know, I was struck down by an illness in 2013 and was not able to contribute my usual effort. Fortunately 2 other couples stepped forward and did the job. They had no experience so it was a struggle for them.

I have prepared an extensive paper to aid in preparation, shopping, room set-up and record keeping. Please contact me and join the fun.

MEETING NOTES

January 7, 2014

Mother Nature won and the first meeting of the New Year had to be cancelled. With temperatures below zero and many roads hard-packed with snow, it wasn't worth the chance considering the distance that some have to travel. This was also the first good test of the email communication tree. We hope everyone was notified in time and that no one was inconvenienced. If you were not notified by email, and should have been, please let Clark know.

We probably missed out on a few good "Corvaire in the Winter" stories so be sure to attend the February Meeting to get caught up. As for the "Stungray", it started after sitting for 2 months and the Merc wouldn't start after sitting for 1 month. The Corvaire, of course, has garage privileges.

With a few members heading south for the winter, and outdoor activities limited, we can expect attendance to decrease but you will still find a warm, friendly group to help pass the grey days.

Respectfully submitted,

Judy O'Leary

The Westervelts

It has been quite a few years since Jim and Marilyn Westervelt were pillars of the DACC. They moved off to Maine but sometimes we hear from them. Joanne Hartzel got an email from Marilyn today that Jim was in a car accident on his way to an AACA meeting and broke both ankles. Ice and snow were to blame. They operated on him and pinned bones together. He will be in a wheelchair for 8 weeks as the doctors said his bones are weak and mushy. He may not walk right again depending on how well they heal.

Marjorie Harriss

Long time friend and DACC member Marjorie Harriss passed on January 4, 2014 after a long time illness. She was laid out at the D. S. Temrowski & Sons funeral parlor in Warren.

She is survived by her husband Paul and her children.
