VP Ramblings

Submitted by John Johnson

I cannot believe another season is over. I have put my cars to bed for the winter, as most of you have probably done. Actually, my season ended very early, thanks to my cardiologist. I have been kept from the driver's seat since August and since Sandy does not drive a manual transmission, the cars have remained parked. I am hoping that I WILL drive to the Christmas Party in January. Speaking of the Christmas Party, it is scheduled for Saturday, January 7, 2018. We will again meet at Perkins at 1:30 PM. We will be ordering off the menu. Perkins address is:

Perkins Restaurant and Bakery
2500 East Market Street
York, PA 17402

We will have a gift exchange. If you would like to participate, please bring a gift of no more than $15.00 MARKED EITHER MALE OR FEMALE. Please DO NOT bring a gift that is marked for either. In the last two years I have received jewelry (necklace) and a decorative candle. We have the room reserved until 4:00 PM.

Before going any farther, I would like to extend my best wishes to Earl and Sandy. This has been an eventful fall season for both of them. The last notice I received from Sandy, Earl was home and improving. Sandy has issues as well and cannot drive. My dear, I can sympathize with that. You guys take care and remember that our prayers are with you. Hope to see you at the Christmas Party.

For Sale

1964 greenbrier 95hp 3-spd 105,000 on odometer. Located in Delaware. $4,500.00 obo. Brand new complete brake system master cylinder lines shoes everything. Motor running and just resealed, rebuilt carbs. Complete fuel system redone with new rubber lines and tank cleaned. Starts first time. Body in great shape. Needs axle seals, shocks and some hinge pin work. Body work done (not a great job) in 80's and stored in barn since 1990. Some body filler in spots but not bad. No rear seat. Tires are 95% new. It does have rust underneath from wet floor in barn.

Call 302-377-5268

I have a couple Rampsides for sale. Both pretty rough. The 62 has a 3 speed & a car engine that does run. The front end is good but from the bed on back is pretty bad. The truck engine it came with is also available.

The second is a 64 with an auto trans & car engine (not running). The bed looks like Swiss cheese but the rockers are actually pretty good. The members under the bed are rusted out. These could be replaced by the ones in the 62 I believe. Sorry no pictures.

The city is threatening me with fines if I don't get things out. I need them gone soon. I will get pics to send in a day or 2. Call or reply to come & see or get pics. Good glass on both less the driver's side vent window on the 64.

I payed $1500 for them. The parts off the 62 are probably worth that alone but they need to go fast. Greg Shaw 313-565-8012.

I have been asked to list this motor for sale by the owner. It is expensive, but ALL items have been rebuilt. It is built with late heads and cylinder assemblies. New everything. Turbo and carb were redone by Clark's Corvair. Heads were redone, all parts cleaned up. I think it has early powder coated sheet metal on it. Crane electronic ignition, internal regulated alternator, new clutch and flywheel etc. It was run on the bench two hours before he picked it up. All price and pickup discussion goes to Phil, at (315)732-1262 about three miles north of the Utica, NY thruway exit. I am just posting for him, so PLEASE contact him directly.

Regards,
Tim Colson

In other news, I was watching Barrett-Jackson auction a couple of weeks ago. To my surprise, a late Corvair Monza Convertible, powerglide, crossed the block. It was definitely a nice driver, but other than that, there was nothing "special", except that it was a Corvair at Barret-Jackson in primetime. The bid went to $23,000 AND THE OWNER WOULD NOT SELL!!! I was speechless. Who knows, a deal may have been made later, but who knows.

The last thing I want to mention is an event that is scheduled for June 2, 2018. I realize that it is early to talk about 2018 activities, but this is a fun event that could be the perfect cruise for us to participate in. The route is from Jarrettsville, MD, ending just south of Hanover. Several of us have done this activity before and had a great time. I will be talking more about this as we get closer to our yearly activities planning session in February.

This newsletter will not come out until the beginning of December, but I still hope that everyone had a wonderful Thanksgiving. I also wish everyone a very Merry and Blessed Christmas along with a great New Year. See you at Perkins.

'The key still fits'

Submitted by Gary Swiatowy and Joe Darinsig

COEUR d'ALENE — In 1971, Craig Nicol bought a regal red 1966 Chevy Corvair Sprint convertible for $450.

He was a junior in high school when he saw it in a car lot and knew he had to have it.

"It was perfect," Nicol said. "I waxed it every week."

He drove the Corvair as he finished high school and through his first year of college, then he sold it to a buyer in Long Beach. That was more than 40 years ago.

Now, thanks to a chance find on eBay, Nicol and his very first car have been reunited.

"What are the chances?" he asked with a big smile. "There are three things that are amazing: it still exists, I found it, it was for sale. And it was a cool car. It wasn't like it was some average car."

Nicol, who has enjoyed rebuilding Corvairs and Corvettes since he was a teen, heard about a sweet Corvair for bid on eBay and right away thought it looked familiar. As he learned more about the car, he realized it had some very particular customizations.

"I said, 'Threads are unraveling; that could be my car,'" Nicol said.

In a video the seller made, Nicol saw the battery and oil gauges installed on the inside of the driver's door, "which is only something a 16-year-old would do."

"I said, 'That's the car. There's no way that it's not the car,'" he said.

Then, something in the glovebox clinched it for Nicol.

"The seller calls me all excited. He said, 'See how it's got that sticker in there where it tells you how much pressure to put in the tires? Guess what's written on the sticker? Your name,'" Nicol said.

In light blue ink, in the Chevy symbol of the tire pressure sticker, "NICOL" survived the test of time to prove that indeed, Nicol's first car has returned to him.

"I couldn't believe it," Nicol said. "It was like, 'Holy smokes, this thing still exists 43 years later?' I mean, it wasn't an expensive car. The only reason it survived is because it was a red convertible of an unusual car. If it would have been something usual it wouldn't have been saved."

Nicol's friend, Don Sausser of Coeur d'Alene, built a video story for Nicol of the day the car arrived in late September. Sausser said it's remarkable that someone could stumble onto his high school car from so many years ago.

"He's a happy camper," Sausser said of Nicol.

To Nicol's surprise, nothing on the car was changed from when he sold it, except for its condition. In its journeys from California to Texas to Oklahoma, it suffered weather damage and neglect.

But not anymore. Nicol plans to restore the Corvair to its original state of glory. He said it really takes him back in time to be behind the wheel of the Corvair again.

He even has the original keys that came with it.

"I kept a set of keys from the day," he said, grinning. "There was this big, 'Gee, are the keys going to fit?' kind of thing. Well, it gets here, and the key still fits."

Craig Nicol stands beside his 1966 Corvair Sprint on Tuesday at his Coeur d'Alene home. After selling the car 43 years ago, Nicol recently purchased the Corvair after finding it for sale online. He was shocked to learn it was his high school car ... just a bit older and in need of some TLC.

Nicol's signature is still on a tire pressure sticker in the Corvair's glovebox, 43 years later.

Nicol holds the original keys to the 1966 Corvair Sprint he drove in high school, when the car was 5 years old. After purchasing the exact car 43 years later, the keys still start the vehicle.

The 1966 Corvair Sprint in the condition Nicol last saw it 43 years ago.

It has been a long rough year.....

This may sound like a lot of excuses, but my recent problems began early in the year. I had problems with my one shoulder for weeks, then the other. After several shots and medication changes the pain subsided. Also problems with my computer for months. And later health and mental issues as my doctor kept changing my medications. I wasn't very active for a while, not reading/answering emails, friends contact, etc. Or phone calls.

Things have turned around. My daughter helped me with a new laptop and I have been trying to get back on my old schedule. I would like to "thank" all those who signed the cards that Sandy sent to me. I appreciate that very much. And to Sandy Holmes and Steve Hooper, a special thank you for their concerns.

Thank You
