2025 and 2026 CORSA Convention

Author: Tom Rahochik, Mid-Maryland Corvair Club
Excerpts taken from: Drippy Leaks & Flyin' Fanbelts Newsletter
dated April 2023

There has been a major change in the date for our Gettysburg CORSA Convention. A second bid from California came in at the same time our bid was initiated. Since there has not been a western CORSA Convention since 2008, and we had an Eastern CORSA Convention in 2018, it was decided to allow California to host their convention in 2025.

Our hotel contract is currently being revised and the new date for our Gettysburg CORSA Convention will be June 22-26 2026.

CORSA should be making the announcement for both conventions sometime in April, at which time, we hope to advise our club hosts and all regional clubs of the date change as well. This extra year of convention planning will allow us to create the best eastern CORSA convention ever!

BAKER'S CHEESE TIPS

Taken from Pillsbury Bake-Off Cookbook July 2004 #281

CHEESE 101:

- Asiago: Mild and creamy when young; nutty and semi-sharp with age. Hard. Pairings: Grapes, figs, crusty bread.

- Monterey Jack: Mild and slightly zesty, nutty with age. Semi-soft to hard. Available marbled or flavored (i.e., Pepper Jack) Pairings: Plums, peaches, toasted pecans.

- Swiss: Sweet to sharp, nutty. Pairings: Green grapes, cherries, roasted almonds, pumpernickel.

Cheese Hints:

- Store cut cheese in refrigerator tightly wrapped.
- Keep cheese in refrigerator until ready to grate. Cheese is much easier to grate when cold.
- Use rule of thumb when measuring cheese; four ounces of chunk cheese equals one cup of shredded cheese.
- Shred or cut cheese into small pieces before melting, or try shredded cheese blends.
- In general, hard cheese like Cheddar or Parmesan cooks better at high temperatures.
- Turn heat on low and stir constantly when adding cheese to a recipe.
- To melt cheese in the microwave, heat on low (30%) until cheese reaches the desired softness or temperature. Check every ten seconds to prevent overheating.

VP Ramblings

Submitted by John Johnson

As I sit here writing this article, the temperature the last two days has been in the 70's. Tomorrow (4/21) the weatherman is promising the 80's. I must confess I have yet to get either Corvair out for the season. My Corvette is still in garage, where it has been parked since Halloween. Most of my time has been taken up by either physical therapy for my back or mowing. Even though it has been warm the past few days, I still had 32 degrees last Monday. I did get a chance to plant another 12 blueberry plants last week.

Enough about the weather and my lack of Corvair driving, it is time for some Corvair news. I am a regular watcher of Mecum Auctions. I seldom miss the car auctions, but also often watch their antique tractor and truck auctions on Saturdays. I spent my childhood working on my neighbor's farm. I like to see the old machinery being sold. A couple of weeks ago, as I was watching the show, a 1963 Corvair Rampside crossed the block. It had been completely restored, had a 4-speed transmission and looked as if it had just come off the assembly line. It brought $45,000!!! The highest price of all the trucks that day and there was some stiff competition. That was the most I had ever seen a Rampside bring at auction. All Corvairs have been increasing in value, but I'm still amazed by the price, $45,000. It is not uncommon to see various Corvairs cross the block at Mecum. Most are bids anywhere from the mid-teens to the high-twenties. If you are interested go to Mecum's webpage and look up Corvair.

Finally, I would like to thank Neal and Beth Lutz for inviting the Club to their farm to see their Alpacas. It was fascinating. Neal and Beth took time to answer all our questions and explain how their farm operates. They were such gracious hosts. Thank you again for the tour.

See you down the road.

Our next meeting

Our next meeting will be held on May 9, 2023 at Hoss's Restaurant in York, PA. Come at 5:30pm and enjoy a meal with members. Meeting begins at 6:30pm.

Painted Spring Alpaca Farm Tour

Submitted by JOHN Berkheimer

We would like to THANK our host Neal & Beth Lutz for the tour and learning experience at their farm. Alpacas are very friendly as everyone found out. All members were able to pet as well as feed them from their hands. They have 39 Alpacas on the farm with seven being boarders. It was mentioned if anyone would like to get an Alpaca to show, they would be glad to board for them. As you can see they are very friendly to everyone as well as Jeff's Corvair Rampside.

We then saw Neal's 1966 Corvair Convertible that is in the process of restoration. Neal and Beth are members of our club. We hope to see progress on the car either in person or some pictures for the newsletter.

We then took a rainy ride to Crabb's Tropical Treat for lunch. The rain stopped and we all had a nice lunch in the pavilion.

ENGINE REAR HOUSING 1962-1963 Models

*Taken from Chevrolet-Central Office
Detroit2, Michigan / Technical Service Bulletin DR #623, Section VI, Dated November 21, 1963*

Oil leaks at the engine rear housing may be corrected by installing Part No. 6257477 crankshaft rear oil slinger originally used in 1960-1961 Corvair engines. Install slinger as shown in the 1960 Corvair Shop Manual, Page 6A-45. Install new engine rear housing seal if necessary, as outlined in the 1961 Corvair Shop Manual, Page 6-41.

Both the new flywheel housing seal and crankshaft rear oil slinger are expected to enter production early in the 1964 model year.

Repair Cracks in "Wood" Wheel

*By Dave Palmer, Central Coast CORSA
Taken from CORSA Communique/March 1983*

Now you can repair that sport steering wheel as used on many '64-'68 models to near perfect condition. First, thoroughly clean out the crack with alcohol. Now for the miracle cure.

Mix up some 15-minute clear epoxy with some dark brown artist chalk, for color. Now carefully fill in the crack little by little, letting each application dry until you have filled it in completely. Your epoxy patch should protrude a little on the final coat because as the glue dries it will shrink. When the final coat is dry, sand it smooth with wet or dry 400 grit sand paper. Finally, sand the whole wheel with 600 grit to remove all excess epoxy and any other scratches or damage.

Now, to bring back the original shine to the plastic, polish with Eagle I brand plastic polish. When you finish you will have a complete wheel that will look great. I have found that the plastic polish is far better than any kind of clean paint coat. The clear paint will get stickily to the touch on a hot sunny day inside the car, even after it has cured. The plastic polish works best.

Clutch/Flywheel Housing

*Taken from Chevrolet-Central Office
Detroit2, Michigan / Technical Service Bulletin DR #623, Section VI, Dated November 21, 1963*

Oil leaks at the clutch or flywheel housing on subject vehicles may be due to a worn housing seal allowing engine oil to seep past into the housing.

This problem may be corrected by installing Part No. 3851853 flywheel housing seal. This new seal incorporates a shield on the engine side to deflect oil away from the seal lip. On 1960 and some early 1961 engines equipped with a front oil slinger, it will be necessary to remove and discard the oil slinger and snap ring to provide sufficient clearance for the new seal.

Refer to the 1961 Corvair Shop Manual, Page 6!-46 for seal replacement instructions.

CORSA NEWS

On behalf of the Corvair Preservation Foundation and National Corvair Museum, we want to congratulate Chris Shade on the announced plans for his Corvair Museum of America located in Hastings, Nebraska. How exciting for car enthusiasts to have more than one place to visit and celebrate all things Corvair.

As a result of this announcement and to clear up any confusion; we want folks to understand that the CPF National Corvair Museum and Mr. Shade's Corvair Museum of America are two separate organizations and not affiliated with each other. To clarify, General Motors has an exclusive partnership agreement with our National Corvair Museum and GM has declared it to be the official Corvair Museum of North America with additional endorsements from the Corvair Society of America (CORSA).

Our National Corvair Museum is located at 10041 Palm Rd. (Old Route 66), in Glenarm, Illinois, continues to serve the classic car community by preserving the history and legacy of this air-cooled wonder by acquiring and displaying items which include historically significant vehicles, many examples of production and custom cars and trucks, prototype engine displays, showcasing various sketch artwork, literature and memorabilia. In addition to researching, educating, and archiving Corvair's history and technical information. We're also proud to offer Frank Winchell scholarships to qualified worthy high school students of active CORSA members.

In the meantime, CPF will be making some exciting announcements at this year's CORSA Convention in Wisconsin pertaining to the National Corvair Museum.

Stay tuned.

The Missing Motor Matter - Part 2

(Submitted by Paul Miller)

The Players:

Calvin "Cal" Waterman - Freelance Insurance Investigator--fraud claims
Mattie Gotsha - local well to do woman and injured party who sustained the loss
Alan Condo - Long Island Insurance Filing Agent- submitted Mattie's claim
Jimmy Blackwater - National Insurance Comp (NIC), Hartford, Connecticut- Case Worker
Jake Ivan- Owner and Chief Mechanic of Jake's Vehicle Repair, a true old-fashioned mechanic

Time: October 1959 Location: Sag Harbor, Long Island, New York

Expense Report Item 4: Shady Rest B&B $22.50 + Deluxe Room w/breakfast + Taxi ride $5.25

Cal returns to Alan Condo's office to understand his concerns about the rise in missing motor issues.

Over coffee Alan reiterates there has been four open cases with a further three cases closed. Cal immediately becomes curious how the three solved cases were closed. Alan commits to getting the case files for his review. Cal decides to re-visit Jake's Repair Shop.

Expense Report Item 5: Mama's Coffee Shop $1.25 + Taxi ride $3.20

Arriving at Jake's Repair Cal begins strongly questioning the competency of Jake's review of the 1960 Corvair. Jake becomes defensive under the barrage of questions stating he thoroughly looked over the entire front end of the Corvair and could find no evidence of the engine. Cal then asks his key question- "What about the rest of the car?" Jake sheepishly states it was unexamined. Cal, frustrated with this run around, decides a better technical review is required. Nathra Nader, a technical expert, is called for assistance but can't take the case due to scheduling conflicts.

Instead, Cal returns to his hotel to review the cases Alan has sent him via courier. He carefully reviews the documents and then the penny drops! There is no "missing motors"- it was simply a brand new technological marvel where the Corvair engine is located in the REAR of the car!

Expense Report Item 6: Taxi ride 4.50 + $2.00 tip for rushing to Jake's, Courier $2.25 + .50¢ tip

Cal arrives at Jake's to examine the 1960 Corvair and sees it sitting in a dusty corner of Jake's garage. He immediately calls for Jake to follow him to the rear of the Corvair. He opens the trunk to see the engine sitting in there in all its air cooled majesty. Jake is without words- but Cal has plenty at his disposal- none repeatable in an official report. Jake, in an effort to recover his pride, suggests it must have been a dead battery causing the no start condition. He adds all these new technologies are too difficult on which to maintain competency adding- "Who puts an engine back THERE?" Cal calls the ever appealing Mattie to set up a luncheon meeting to bring her up to date. She demurs and suggest her beach house instead. Cal is all too happy to oblige.

Expense Report Item 7: Taxi ride $5.50 + $1.00 tip + Bottle of Croft Gordon Sercial Wine $7.50

Mattie opens the door for Cal to which he is greeted by the scent of fondue in the kitchen. Cal hands Mattie the wine and tells her the case is solved. To wit- the engine was there all the time – you had a dead battery- nothing more. And, of course, the incompetence of Jake's Vehicle Repair. Relieved Mattie opens the wine and the two enjoy a long delightful lunch.

Expense Reports Item 8: Shady Rest B&B $22.50 Deluxe Room w/breakfast + Taxi ride $5.25 + Air fare from Sag Harbor to NYC $42.30

FINAL REPORT: Jimmy Blackwater, National Insurance Comp (NIC), Hartford, Connecticut

Mr. Blackwater- This case is closed. Findings include the discovery of poor technical knowledge by local officials, poor communication by the selling entity- the dealership, poor problem solving skills of local mechanics. This case should not have occurred. RECOMMENDATION: Suggest NIC probe deeper in such cases to ensure proper authentication is done prior to deployment of a Freelance Insurance Investigator.

TOTAL EXPENSES: $197.98

Professional Service Bill- Sent under separate cover.
