Mr. & Mrs. Jones Buy a Corvair

Submitted by Paul Miller

Dateline: October 1959 Location: Sag Harbor, Long Island, New York

Arriving at the Chevy Dealership the Joneses are intent on seeing the newest thing on the road, a 1960 Corvair sedan. After all they have heard so much about it. In fact, they are clutching the Sag Harbor Express dated Oct. 1, 1959, folded to page 5 which is a Corvair advertisement about the revolutionary car. They meet with salesman, Bill Murphy, "Quick Deal (aka Dr. QD or Dr Q) for short" at Lester Motors. Dr Q is only too happy to show off the latest from Chevrolet. He explains all about the Corvair in less than two minutes flat! Lots of room, good traction, easy to see out of, easy to maneuver and most of all, ready for delivery today. He then asks if they would like to take delivery today? No doubt, Dr Q is living up to his name. But...the Jones' have questions.

Concerned, Mr. Jones wants to see the engine and some features. So, Dr Q (quick to oblige) opens the front hood to discover no engine! He says to them, "Just kidding" the engine is in the back I recall." He proceeds to the car's rear, fumbles around for the latch and pops it open. Mr. Jones is now very anxious, "What the heck is this?" Dr Q says, "the engine location is good for traction, less noise and a lot more interior room." Besides, Dr Q offers the opinion that soon all cars will have their engines in the back. "Is this the only available color?" Mrs. Jones asks. "I don't like the color. Could we maybe reorder what we like?" Dr Q, tight on his monthly sales quota, demurs and states he can make a real good deal on this particular car including the optional gas heater. Mr. Jones asks, "Why doesn't it have a regular water heater?" Dr Q states, "This heater is faster and besides the engine doesn't use water as it cools with air." Mr. Jones is dumbfounded. Against the odds the Joneses get in the car to check the interior. Mr. Jones asks, "Where is the drive line hump." The doctor says, "It doesn't need one since the tires are driven by the rear engine." Mr. Jones is dumbfounded, again. Mrs. Jones tells her husband to calm down. Dr Q says, "Perhaps we should go for a ride?" Reluctantly, the Joneses follow him to a nearby demo Corvair.

They start by driving out of the parking lot right by Slippery's Bar (Dr Q's lunch time haunt) and proceed down the road to the cul-de-sac where Mattie Gotsha lives (Mrs. Jones best friend). After their demo drive Dr Q is confident the deal is near complete. There is an old auto sales belief "Get them in the car and they will buy it." The adage might just be true 'cause the Joneses are impressed with the Corvair as it is easy to maneuver, great sight lines, light operating controls AND that unidentifiable new car smell, all work their "must buy" magic.

Just two questions remain in the Jones' mind. First is insurance. So, they call their agent and friend, Alan Condo, from Long Island Insurance and discover insurance is indeed affordable. It is about $15 a month. But what about repairs and maintenance? Again, they reach out to good friend and mechanic, Jake Ivan, owner of Jake's Vehicle Repair. Jake states, "I am sure the costs will be about the same- after all, how different can this Chevy be from all the others?"

Dr Q with all smiles and friendliness moves in to close the deal. Mr. Jones asks, "How much?" Dr Q, ready to answer, states, "Less than "$2000" + taxes and title". Mr. Jones is positively dumbfounded. In a moment that the Jones' will long remember they mutually say, "SOLD" and signed the papers.

Bill Murphy "Dr Quick Deal" smiles and greets another repeat customer since Mr. & Mrs. Smith are arriving at the dealership door. They are clutching a copy of the Sag Harbor Express folded to page 5, the Corvair advertisement. Dr Q feels a warm glow as is going to be a good sales month and an easy one.

President's Message

Submitted by John Berkheimer

I received an email from our Secretary, Earl Holmes, that he has decided to step down as Secretary. We would like to thank Earl for his many years of service to the club. He has truly been an intracel part of the club officers. We look forward to seeing him at future events and club meetings. Please take a moment when you see Earl to thank him for all he has done over the years for the club.

I also received a few calls telling me that the Corvair Ranch Open House had a very nice day and 22 Corvairs in attendance. I was unable to attend since I was out of town for the weekend. Also, a quick report on our trip to Markets at Shrewsbury, weather was perfect, maybe a little cool. They had a lot of cars coming and going all afternoon. Carol will have a few pictures in the newsletter, unfortunately Lou wasn't able to attend so I took a few, not the usual quality. See Page 7 for photos.

Our next event is the club picnic on June 15th at my house. Come any time after 12 and plan on eating at 1. The best way to get to my house, 403 Dart Drive, is via Route 94. Dart Drive only goes one way, the other way is Kuhn Drive. Just go to 4-way stop and first house after stop on right. Club provides drinks and main course, not sure what that will be yet. If you require something special to drink either let me know or bring along. If you have a chance let me know you are coming so we have enough food. It is a family event, and everyone is welcome to swim. We will have a gift exchange and a meeting. We have many things to discuss.

Please read the newsletter, it is always filled with information. What we are doing, where to meet and the time. Don't miss all the fun and drive those Corvairs.

July 10th is Hanover Fire Museum, Utz Factory Tour and lunch to follow at Crabb's Tropical Treat. Remember it is cash only, they do have an ATM there. We will also have a meeting there. See page 10 article about this event.

June and July there will be no meetings at Hoss's in York.

Happy Corvairing!

Repairing Your Sun Visors

Submitted by: Dave Steigauf

Is the binding coming off the edge of your sun visors?

Both of the sun visor bindings stitching had deteriorated, and the binding was hanging down. I tried using contact cement to reattach them and that lasted a very short time till they were detached and hanging loose again. So, I figured it was time to take them to an upholstery shop and get them repaired correctly. The first shop said it took a special machine to sew the original binding back on and he didn't have one and suggested that I Super Glue it back on. I didn't think that was a great idea, so I went to a different shop and was told the same thing about a special machine to repair the original binding and that he knew of no one that had one.

He said he could sew a new binding on, but it would look different and would be larger. He then told me to super glue it back on and that was how they repaired them. I told him that I had tried contact cement and that it did not hold. He then told me contact cement was for large flat surfaces only.

He then brought out three bottles of the product that they use, and they have never had one come back. They were heavy gel, accelerator and remover.

Since this is the product that the professionals use, I decided to buy it on Amazon for $22.00.

Directions:

- Wipe the visor and binding with rubbing alcohol to remove any polish or protectant.
- Do one side at a time starting at one end using a small amount on 2 inches at a time.
- Press and wipe the seam with a paper towel to remove any glue that may squeeze out. Then hold for 20-30 seconds.
- Now go to the other end and do the same. Repeat this process going back and forth until you have the one seam on one side of the visor completely glued.
- Now flip it over and repeat the same process on the second side.

If you need to use the remover, use it very cautiously as it can do damage to the vinyl. Do not put it directly on the surface. Put it on a paper towel and rub it quickly.

Do not use a clamp as this tends to pull the binding away from the visor body. Twenty to thirty seconds of squeezing by hand works best.

If you would like to see the finished product, let me know and I will bring it to our meeting.

Update October 2023: We have continued testing the sample fuel pumps and identified a couple improvements that need to be made. We are working with the factory on these improvements. We are committed to producing the best pump possible and testing as much as possible. This has caused some delays in the pumps being available, but we feel it is worth the wait to avoid problems.
